Bali, Island of the Gods

It's time for some beach fun in Bali! Apart from being a beautiful island with its countless number of stunning temples, Bali, sometimes called the Island of the Gods, is known for its beaches where travelers can participate in water sports. From surfing to scuba diving and water rafting, you will enjoy the beach activities that Bali has to offer.

If you have never surfed before and would like to start, then perhaps you can head down to Kuta or Legian which are perfect for beginners. For the experts, the big breaks off the Bukit Peninsula will be the main draw. If surfing is not your thing, then try out water rafting, scuba diving, fishing, or any other water activities. After your tiring activities, you may want to get a Balinese massage to soothe your tired and aching body after a day of fun.

For travelers who are not fond of being near the beach, fret not. You can choose to watch cultural shows, attend cooking class, or go sightseeing. Start your trip to Mengwi, Alas Kedaton, and Tanah Lot, to see some of the most sacred and picturesque temples in Bali. After, head down to the Ubud Art Village, where you can shop for arts & crafts, jewelries, and clothing.

For the hopeless romantic, you can enjoy delectable seafood dinner while watching the sunset at Jimbaran Bay. But if you're a party animal, then the Kuta region is the place for you. Kuta is the centre of Bali's nightlife, offering a plethora of chic entertainment places for discerning travelers.

Overall, Bali is a great place for travelers to visit, catering to every single ones who have different interest in a good holiday trip. So start packing and book a package with us now!
